EDITOR'S FOREWORD

This issue marks the final publication of the Quarterly by the present staff. As our final effort we present within these covers, first, The Minutes of the South Carolina Bar Association's Annual Meeting, which, we trust, is of great interest value to the reader. Second, there is a concise, easily-read analysis, by Mr. William Pettit, of James F. Byrnes' opinions written while an Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court. Third, and of prime importance to every lawyer in South Carolina, Mr. T. R. Sams has prepared a review of the Acts of the General Assembly in the 1954 Session. Our last article presents a timely discussion of collective bargaining under the Taft-Hartley Act by Mr. Ellison D. Smith, Jr. of the Columbia Bar.

As for student work in this issue, we recommend the comprehensive note by Mr. A. C. Clarkson, Jr. which is a survey of the matter of joinder of insurance companies in tort cases in South Carolina, and eight case notes on recent decisions handed down in South Carolina and elsewhere, which we believe are of current interest to our readers.

As our final editorial act, the present staff and I wish to extend our sincerest best wishes to Mr. Dexter R. Hamilton, the new Editor-in-Chief, and his staff, in their efforts to achieve for the Quarterly a deserved position among the legal periodicals of this country.
